

Grant Application Resource for Protection of Human Subjects

Part of any grant application utilizing NIH funds requires adequate attention to human subjects. To help with the process, NIH and NINR have some excellent resources that may help in preparing the sections concerning protection for human subjects, inclusion of women, minorities and children and data safety monitoring plans in your grant proposal:

Protection of Human Subjects:

https://grants.nih.gov/grants/peer/guidelines_general/Guidelines_for_the_Review_of_t he_Human_Subjects.pdf

The guidelines provide checklists and specific information about what should be included in the protection of human subjects section.

Inclusion of Women, Minorities, Children:

https://grants.nih.gov/grants/peer/guidelines_general/Review_Human_Subjects_Inclusion.pdf

Similarly, if you scroll to Inclusion of Women, Minorities, Children, there is a link to the Guidelines for the Review of Inclusion in Clinical Research.

Data and Safety Monitoring of Extramural Clinical Trials:

The information on pages 2 & 3 about what needs to be included in letters a through f is what we look for to make sure applications have completely addressed oversight and monitoring.
